SPEAKS BEFORE CHAPEL

Rotary And Kiwanis Clubs Hold Joint Meeting At Country Club

Lawrence P. Downs, president of the Illinois Central system of railroads and former Greencastle boy, was here today. Mr. Downs spoke before the DePauw University chapel and also before a joint luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs of the city.

Mr. Downs was graduated from Purdue university but spent his prep days at DePauw University. He paid the law the compliment of having the greatest body of successful alumni in any college in the middle West. "A university," he said "is as much its spirit and the spirit of its law as its spirit and the spirit of its law is great."

In his talk before the college students, the railway president advocated a balanced education. "A man who does nothing but grind at his books has much chance of being a failure in the world as the college student who does nothing but spend his time in idleness and the pursuit of pleasure."

"The middle course in which extracurricular activities are balanced with lectures and texts makes for the balanced graduate and the man who will succeed."

Mr. Downs as an employer and employer of men, scored the use of liquor heavily in his address. The man who uses liquor hasn't a ghost of a show against the total abstinence of the upper-classmen, he said, is to help direct the paths of the underclassmen right by setting a good example.

"Don't be discouraged after you graduate and find that the world seems to be without openings or employment for young men. There is plenty of work for those who wish to work," he said in his chapel address. "The old are dying and youth must take its place in the saddle. No one need be idle who wants to work. There is work to be done at all times. Habits of idleness and of laziness will not only ruin a college course but will ruin a life in a world of work."

Mr. Downs' own life is an example of his philosophy. He started at the bottom of the railway game as a roadman on a survey gang at $40 a month. Today he is president of one of the greatest railway systems. Hundreds of friends of both Mr. Downs himself and of the family, filled the DePauw chapel to hear him speak.

He was introduced by Dr. Henry C. Langdon, vice-president of DePauw, who knew Mr. Downs as a boy and as a student at DePauw.

At the Rotary and Kiwanis luncheon at the country club at noon today, Mr. Downs spoke at length on railroads in the United States. He traced their history into four sections: the pioneer, which lasted until 1827, was a period of building and expansion, linking the interior with the coasts by rail.

The next period was from 1827 to 1917 when the government took control of the roads at the outbreak of the war. The third period was from 1917 until 1920, under governmental control and the fourth and last period was 1920 until the present time.

The interstate commerce commission in the beginning was a good thing as it brought strict management from mismanagement and cured many malpractices of railroads such as rebating freight charges to large shippers and standardizing rails and track gauges. Later, the regulation was carried to an extreme with various rates taking a hand.

The government control in 1917, Mr. Downs said, "was caused by the financial condition of the roads that had been allowed to run down and to have depleted their reserve. In the government owned period the roads were built up and when taken back by their owners, were in an excellent condition."

The last period, under the transportation act, has found the railroads to be in a far healthier condition than ever before. "But what of the future?" Mr. Downs asked. With competition in transportation of freight and passengers by air, by motor and by water ways, where does the railroad stand?

Mr. Downs stated that it was unfair to the railroad to penalize the country to make up deficits in air mail transportation, maintaining the roads for bus and truck lines, keeping harbors and river channels for barges, all of whom paid no tax assessments commensurate with the good they receive.

Both Rotary and Kiwanis had a full attendance at the meeting.

FIVE MORE DIE

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 23 (UP)—Five additional deaths from cerebro spinal meningitis in Indiana during the past day has brought new activity on the part of health authorities charged with stamping out the scourge.

Return of cold weather was believed partly responsible for the renewed violence of the disease.

TWO DROWNED

FRANKLIN, Ind., Jan. 23 (UP)—Two Franklin business men were drowned and three others were suffering from exposure and cold after the boat in which they were attempting to cross Sugar Creek, six miles south of Franklin, capsized late last night.

Bodies of Clark Prather, 42, druggist, and Amador White, 50, dry goods merchant, had not been recovered today.

ARRESTS MAY CLEAR THEFT
AT CLOVERDALEFOUR YOUNG MEN APPREHENDED AT BLOOMINGTON HAD NUMEROUS GUNS

Arrest of four young desperadoes at Bloomington may clear up robbery of the Cloverdale Hardware company store January 10. Theft of a large number of guns from that store has never been solved. Speaking of the arrests, the Bloomington World says:

"With the arrest last night of four young men, Bloomington police seized stolen 1929 Ford, 16 guns, and a large quantity of clothing and several watches. Two of the men under arrest are Bloomington boys. Their names are Roney Pardue, age 21, and Harold Arthur, age 22, both of whom lived at 117 east Fifteenth street. The other two men, Richard Gibson, age 21, of Terre Haute; and Henry Miller, age 21, of Flint, Mich., were in possession of the stolen car when arrests were made."

"The arrests of these men uncovered stolen goods valued at close to $1,500, including the new car which was decorated as lavishly as a circus wagon with extra fixtures costing $265. Three of the men under arrest, Gibson, Miller and Richardson have prison records. Richardson, who took the role of a desperado when questioned by police, said that if he had had his guns with him when the police came after him he "never would have been taken alive," but "would have shot it out with the cops."

Most of the stolen clothing which police uncovered is from the House of Hadley, a clothing and shoe concern at Danville, Ind., which was looted Sunday night. F. B. Hadley, owner of the looted store, came to Bloomington this morning with Sheriff Shane of Danville, to identify the goods.

"Gibson boasted that the Ford which they drove was equipped with tractor valves and a special gear system which would enable it to travel 80 to 90 miles an hour and "run from anything on the road." Gibson and Miller appeared to be the "toughest" of the four suspects. Miller said that he had served two terms at Pendleton reformatory for robbery."

Jesse McCoy of the Cloverdale Hardware and Lumber Company went to Danville Thursday to attempt to identify some of the recovered stolen goods as that taken from the Cloverdale store.

ELECT HANKEY SECRETARY

First Business Session Of Naval Conference Held Thursday In St. James Palace

LONDON, Jan. 23 (UP)—The Naval arms requirements of each of the five great naval powers were explained today at the first business session of the naval conference.

Each of the chief delegates spoke in general terms of the requirements of his nation. The only figures quoted pertained to coastlines and other geographical indications or required naval strength. None of them revealed their tonnage requirements.

A drizzling rain fell on the dark turrets of St. James Palace while the delegates of the five powers sat around a great three-sided table in the Queen Anne's drawing room and heard the chief representatives of Great Britain, the United States, Italy, France and Japan explain the needs of their respective countries.

Sir Maurice Hankey was elected secretary-general of the conference. Adjournment was taken at 11:50 a. m., and the chief delegates will resume the private conversations which have been underway all week.

Official engagements for today included a meeting of the British, the French and Italian delegates at Downing street at 4 p. m. The delegates will be guests at a banquet at Guild Hall tonight.

The five chief delegates finished their talks at 11:25 a. m. No discussion had been scheduled. The views were presented in an effort to sum up and complete the groundwork for later negotiations for reduction of naval armaments.

After the speeches of each chief delegate had been finished, the conference organized the permanent committee of the whole, consisting of all of the delegates.

The work of the delegates was conducted in complete secrecy except for the announcements to the press. The conference room is secluded and it is necessary to pass through four other salons to reach it, assuring absolute quiet.

About 30 stalwart guards were stationed at the three main entrances to the palace as well as at the approaches, where small crowds gathered despite the drizzle. Young women predominated in the crowds.

All of the police were picked from the Scotland Yard Division and not one was less than six feet tall. They thoroughly scrutinized the credentials of every delegate and press man.

National RoadINDIANAPOLIS CONTRACTOR IS LOWEST ON WIDENING ROAD
PAYMENT

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 23 (UP)—Bids were opened by the state highway department on 75 miles of paving to be constructed during the 1930 season. The total amount involved was more than $1,500,000.

The letting was the third for the year and when contracts are signed, 240 miles of paving will have been contracted.

The most important of the projects was the contract for the proposed widening of the pavement on the National road to a width of 40 feet from Indianapolis to Bridgeport.

Five miles of the present 18-foot pavement will be widened to 40 feet; the remainder widened to 30 feet. The 40-foot stretch will be from the city limits to entrance of new municipal airport. Road grade will be lowered under the Pennsylvania subway to give a 14-foot clearance at the edge of the pavement. Trucks now are forced to use the center of the road to obtain clearance while under the arched subway. The road will be kept open to traffic while the major work goes on.

W. D. Vogel, of Indianapolis, was the low bidder on this contract, his bid being $200,613.86 for the 5.7 miles. The estimate was $243,736.61. The low bid on black top was $225,545 and the estimate on the work was $409,429.

McCONNELL SPEAKS AT STATE PASTOR'S MEETING

A return to mystic forms of religious worship is very noticeable today, Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York, president of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America, and former president of DePauw University, declared in an address at Indianapolis yesterday.

He spoke on "Present Day Tendencies Toward Mysticism" at the closing session of the second annual Indiana pastors' conference at the First Baptist church in the afternoon.

"Mysticism is not necessarily Christian," Bishop McConnell cautioned, "and although its presence in religion is gratifying in many respects, yet it must be treated with great care."

Religion exists everywhere, and there is probably more religion in non-Christian than in Christian lands with a larger number of religions giving themselves over to mystic contemplation, he asserted.

Emphasizing the dangers of mysticism he said Christianity must not be treated as something in the nature of a retreat from the world.

"It must be a living, dynamic, driving thing," he said.

"The problem of Christianity is not in furnishing retreat from the world. Rather it is the problem of administering to the world. We need an emphasis in the doctrines of the Holy Spirit to provide the motive for our going out into the world, not in retiring from it."

"Power is contained in the ability to meet situations as they arise. Power in religion, then, means the possession of the Christ spirit, humility in the presence of facts and a resolution to put the will of God first in everything. Power in the ministry will come from the ability to convince men of the power of the religion of Jesus Christ."

Bishop McConnell spoke at the subject "Toward Christian Unity," at the morning session.

Four Relief Depots Established In High Water Area Along Wabash
River Channel

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 23 (UP)—Flood waters in the lowlands surrounding Claypool Hill, in Decker township, have receded slightly, according to word brought here by Lts. Walter R. Peck and Lawrence Genaro, who flew an army observation plane laden with food, clothing and blankets into the stricken area yesterday.

Relief workers believed the fall in back waters came after workers near Orville had cut away a section of levee, allowing the water to flow out into the Wabash river channel.

An air survey of Beal, in the northern part of the inundated district, whence little word has been received since high waters cut it off from the outside, was planned today by H. B. Williamson, Red Cross field worker in charge of southern Indiana relief. Griffin, where reports have indicated suffering and illness, was to be included in the survey.

The Wabash river at Vincennes, dropping little since yesterday, stood at 21.8 feet early today.

No word had been received of a house boat, believed to be carrying the H. J. Hall family, which broke loose Monday from its moorings at Gordon Hill, downstream from Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Another plane, provided by the National Guard at Indianapolis, was expected here today to aid in the distribution of supplies among refugees. Adjutant-General Manford G. Henley ordered the plane for duty following the request of William Fortune, head of the Red Cross in Indianapolis.

Four relief depots for food and clothing were established in the flood district yesterday. They are at Orville, Wash Smith's farm, Beryl Horrall's farm, and at Beal. The depots at Orville and Smith farm will be served with supplies dropped from airplanes, while the other points will be stocked by motor boats.

A party of rescue workers, each dragging a hand sled loaded with relief supplies, worked out of Patoka yesterday, slowly working their way to marooned homes.

Considerable concern was felt for the safety of V. D. Cousert, Wabash township trustee, from whom no word has been heard since flood waters entered the township.

Lieuts. Peck and Genaro made an emergency landing in Decker township yesterday afternoon, when a blanket broke loose from a dropping bundle and entangled in the tail of the plane.

Unofficially private owned thermometers located in colder spots Wednesday night dropped as low as 18 degrees below zero. No immediate relief is in sight according to weather forecasts.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 23—Following sessions this morning and this afternoon, members of the Indiana Veterinary Medical Association will close their annual convention, which began Tuesday.

The annual dinner, which was followed by a dance, was held last night.

The decline of the horse has failed to work a hardship on the profession because it has been accompanied by an increase in animal husbandry, Dr. T. A. Sigler of Greencastle, told the members of the organization yesterday.

In fact, he said, development of the automobile has been of advantage to the profession because it has enabled the members to travel greater distances, treat more cases and still leave them time to study advancements and developments of treating animals and birds.

Dr. J. E. Gibson, inspector in charge of the Indiana bureau of animal industry, described methods of treating various diseases, including tuberculosis.

Officers elected by the Indiana Veterinary Medical Association are: Dr. W. F. Bratten of McCordsville, president; Dr. Riley C. Applegate of Bloomfield, vice president, and Dr. R. H. Boyd of Indianapolis, secretary.

The theft Wednesday night followed a similar theft Tuesday night in which 56 chickens were taken from the farm of Lloyd Summers in Floyd township.

House Committee Goes Into Executive Session While Senators Hold Private Meeting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(UP)—The soft pedal was applied to prohibition activities in both houses of Congress today.

The House expenditures committee went into executive session to curtail the scope of its inquiry which yesterday developed into a wet cross-examination of Secretary of Treasury Mellon on what he thought about prohibition.

At the same time the King subcommittee of the Senate arranged for a private conference with Chairman Wickersham and Roscoe Pound of the law enforcement commission.

Both developments were related to the general demand of dry leaders that wets be prevented from using open committee sessions to question the merit of the Volstead Act or debate the issue with government officials.

The expenditures committee, with the dry chairman Williamson in command, decided to find out in executive session how great a score of examination may be used against witnesses.

The $7,000,000 prison reform bill passed yesterday by the House as a means of relieving prison congestion was received in the Senate and referred to a committee for investigation.

Legion Banquet

TIONS HAD BEEN MADE
EARLY THURSDAY

Approximately 100 World War veterans in Putnam county had made reservations with Miss Helen Black, secretary of the Greencastle Chamber of Commerce, for the Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Country Club Friday night at 6:30 o'clock for all war veterans in the county.

Miss Black urged today that those who had not made their reservations as yet do so early Friday morning at the latest. All World War veterans are invited to attend the banquet as guests of the Chamber of Commerce. Others may secure tickets at 50 cents each. All who attend must make reservation.

The banquet is being given to arouse interest in an increased Legion membership in Putnam county. The local Legion Post believes a large membership will be a big asset in the present movement to secure for Greencastle the new government hospital to be awarded to some Indiana town.

The feature of the dinner program will be an address by Paul V. McNutt, dean of the Law School of Indiana University and past national commander of the American Legion.

Harry Allan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the meeting. Music will be furnished by the Kiwanis Club quartet. Capt. B. B. McMahon, commander of the local Legion Post, will introduce Mr. McNutt, the speaker.

A CLEAR SKIN comes from within petite, loss of strength, loss of appetite, loss of energy, loss of vitality, loss of health, loss of life.

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.

... was so great I could have cried. The good cheer and happiness of others only mocked at my condition. I had never known life could be so cruel. No appetite. No strength. Skin always embarrassed me. Aches and pains coursed through my system. I wanted to restore my health and live. What was I to do? ... I came and I found the right road to Health when a friend introduced S.S.S.

... be one of the thousands with a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below

... increase in the red-blood-cells you will be on the right road. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Nature's way is restored, it is easier to fight disease and enjoy your food and life. ... When firm flesh takes of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your body steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

... You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. ... S.S.S. builds Nature's blood rich, red blood. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unqualified letters of gratitude. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

RUSHVILLE TONIGHT

As a curtain raiser to the battle between the Lions and the Tiger Cubs, the Brazil Juniors will clash with the Greencastle Juniors at 7 o'clock.

Two interesting tilts are expected and no doubt there will be a big turnout of fans.

Coch Bausman has sent his Cub netters through only one light workout since the Monon tournament and the boys should be "on" this evening.

Rushville comes here with a strong team. It's up to the Tiger Cubs to act the host but send the Lions home on the short end of the score.

A number of Brazil fans braved the cold weather to come to Greencastle to see the DePauw-Butler game Tuesday. Regarding this contest the Brazil Times says:

We braved the zero blasts and snow to see Butler and DePauw play last night at Greencastle. Butler won, 39 to 29, but most of that lead was obtained in the last few minutes of play. DePauw started a rally that brought the score within five points to the national champions then added a couple of baskets that didn't count. At the puncture Butler got busy, penetrated the DePauw defense for some fine shots.

Butler, cocky, confident and capable, was never worried. When DePauw started a rally the Bull Dogs called time out, sat down on the floor and laughed about it, then came back to make a few more points.

How Butler can hit from the foul line. Thirteen goals were made out of seventeen chances.

Butler wins its games because it has possession of the ball most of the time. Hildebrand, not only takes the tip-off but the Butler players are exceedingly aggressive in getting hold of the ball. Hildebrand, who is slated for all-American center this year, over Murphy of Purdue, certainly looks good. He made seven field goals for fourteen points and added three more from the foul line, never missing a free shot. Hildebrand, who works in Brazil in the summer time is well known here and a good sized bunch of fans went up to see him play.

Butler is the master of the slow offensive. They worked the ball down slowly and invariably penetrated the DePauw defense. On the other hand DePauw was seldom able to get a close in shot after their deliberate style of play. Stunkle, DePauw guard, who is supposed to make a lot of them from out about the foul circle, could not connect last night.

The deliberate style of play has certainly slowed down the college ball games, and consequently the interest of fans. Both Butler and DePauw use it extensively, except when there is a stray ball, most of the offensive is slow and deliberate.

Hosier, a big, rough and good natured guard of Butler, got by with butting the DePauw players out after the tip-off, for quite awhile before officials caught him. He then quit it.

All Butler players are big boys except Christopher, floor guard, who is a little fellow, but a scrappy one and keen shooter.

Coch Raleigh Phillips, Principal George Pell and other basketball leaders were among the twenty-five or more Brazil fans who saw the Butler-DePauw game. Coach Phillips probably thinks more of his slow offensive style than ever now as both teams used it.

Seems to us that officials allow more latitude on fouling in the college game than in the high school games. There is more contact, holding, blocking, charging that is not called than in the high school games.

DePauw has another hard game on hands tomorrow night when State Normal's crack quintet comes here from Terre Haute. The Teachers downed the Tigers by a close score several weeks ago and are out to repeat in this second meeting. Last night, State Normal downed Franklin in an overtime tilt by the score of 42 to 36.

Friday night and Saturday will also see the annual Putnam county tournament. The tourney will be staged in the local gym and nine Putnam teams will participate. These schools are: Greencastle, Bainbridge, Fillmore, Cloverdale, Roachdale, Russellville, Belle Union, Reelsville and Putnamville.

DE PAUW VS. STATE NORMAL

DePauw University's Tiger basketball squad turned from its 32-25 deficit at the hands of Butler on Tuesday evening to a celebration of State Normal of Terre Haute whom the Metaclists meet here on Friday night.

This is the first return game on the DePauw schedule and affords the Tigers opportunity to avenge an early season loss. State Normal defeated DePauw 32-27 at Terre Haute in the third game of the Tiger's schedule. Both quintets have a starting lineup of veterans from last year's squad.

DePauw found two able substitutes in the Butler game, Copeland and Hammond, who were injected into the lineup when Captain Stunkel and Red Mountz, guard and center, were forced from the lineup on fouls. Copeland scored five points against the Bulldogs in the few minutes he played. Copeland was also the pinch hitter in the game at Indiana University that scored the winning field goal for DePauw.

Coch Moffett will start his regular lineup of Moffett and Ragsdale, forwards; Mountz, center; Crawley and Stunkel, guards. DePauw's defense will be drawn to stop the fast stepping Normal five before it can drive under the basket which they did so successfully at Terre Haute in the first meeting of the two teams.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

The bewitching charm of soft, flattering curves... the lure of a graceful, modern figure... don't spoil it by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. Over-indulgence is not commendable—when tempted to over-indulge, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that modern, enchantingly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

The Tin Wedding

This Parrot Fever

Money and Microbes

After all, it may be that those senators and representatives who sought to tie a can to the eighteenth amendment on the tenth anniversary of its adoption were only striving to observe in appropriate fashion the tin wedding of Uncle Sam and prohibition.

It is very appropriate for Will Rogers to attend the naval disarmament conference at London, for it is all a joke, since aviation already has scrapped the very ships which the visiting statesmen propose to scrap.

This parrot fever has been so deadly because something must be terribly wrong with a fellow before he's willing to have a parrot about the house.

This kidnapping of Admiral Yang
Shu-Chuang from a dinner in Foochow must fill Mrs. Gann with a horrible fear that the following of Alice Roosevelt Longworth may do to her.

The criminal lawyers of the United States will read with unspeakable indignation that five bandits were shot in Mexico immediately after they had held up a number of tourists.

These ex-mayors who have recently returned to the practice of law find their libraries dusty and their precedents overruled and their clients hopelessly scattered.

Law and politics do not go together.

A health authority announces that all money is full of microbes and that almost all of our diseases are caused by the handling of it.

If this is true, what a cinch it would be to organize a life insurance company and issue policies to nobody but farmers!

Representative James M. Beck of Philadelphia informs the Indiana Bar Association that the United States refusal to admit Smith of Illinois and Vane of Pennsylvania was the most deadly blow ever dealt American liberty.

Yep, as a result of that action, millions of us are going around,
dragging our chains.

Mr. Coolidge is to write a history of the United States on a mountain in Dakota and the same will be children so deeply that it will last five thousand centuries.

This will make it unnecessary for Mr. Coolidge to go out and leave any footprints on the sands of time.

Jacob Gould Schurman, our retiring ambassador to Germany, has just been elected an extraordinary senator of the German academy.

We hope he'll hurry home for we have very few extra-ordinary senators in this country.

our diplomats to invite all foreign governments to send exhibits
